

Inspiring Angels

Ipswich

In December 2021 Inspiring Angels are coming to Ipswich!

Ipswich will be 'angel-bombed' with images of angels (messengers of good news). The angels will be a variety of shapes and sizes all over the town - in schools, shops, on public buildings, on the pavements, in bedroom windows, wherever people's imagination takes them!

Angel Trail

Grab your friends between December 11th and January 6th and follow a trail of large-scale angel wings all over the town including on the Town Hall.

Carol Singing

Join us on Saturday 18th December at 5pm on the steps of the Town Hall to sing 'Hark the Herald Angels Sing'!

Angel-Bomb Ipswich

Help us flood the town with angels ...on pavements, trees, railings, your kitchen window, you name it...

Carol Services

QR codes will take you to our angelic website (coming soon!), advertising all the town's carol services to add a bit of heart and soul to your Christmas.

Fill Ipswich with joy this Christmas!

How can I get involved?

- Get creative and enjoy making something angelic
- Spread the love! Tell your colleagues, local schools, neighbours and friends
- Fill Instagram with angels as you spot them around the town
- Tell us on Facebook about your favourite carol service experiences
- Follow the Angel Trail, write a song, poem or blog on the subject of angels
- Fill your windows at home with angels
- Eat Angel Delight for a month to get in the mood!
- Have a browse of the Inspiring Angels website and find a Christmas service or event which grabs your interest and take some friends
- Crochet an angel and give it to a neighbour for their Christmas tree
- Be an angel and do something good for someone in need
- Help decorate some of the angel wings in your area
- Practice your carol-singing in the shower and quickly learn to play the harp
- Forget gingerbread men, get baking Christmas angels
- Visit Trees@TheTower at St Mary Le Tower to see their angels
- Get in touch if you have any BIG ideas which could bring joy to our town
- And help us prepare the way for an even bigger visitation of Inspiring Angels for Christmas 2022
